

COMPARISON · CANVAS · STRUCTURE

decision

The verdict slide — one chosen path, named explicitly.

What we are doing.

CHOSEN PATH.

Self-contained per-component folders at lib/components, one folder per component. Holds manifest plus styles plus optional transform plus example plus README.

REJECTED OPTION.

Flat files alongside each other in lib/components. Defeats the self-contained goal and leaves transform.js scattered.

Three reasons we are building.

BUILD

The platform is the product.
Owning it owns the roadmap.

WHY NOT BUY

No vendor matches our compliance posture without surrender of control.

WHY NOT DELAY

Cost of waiting compounds: each quarter spent on workarounds is one fewer quarter on the platform.

When NOT to reach for decision.

No clear chosen path. If the cards don't name one focal verdict, the slide is back to being a comparison. Use `compare-prose` or `split-compare`; reserve decision for the resolved call.

Long body per card. Each card is one sentence of rationale. Paragraphs belong on the comparison slide upstream, not on the verdict slide.

Generic heading. The h2 carries the decision verb — Build, not buy. Adopt the framework. Pause the rollout. A heading like Next steps wastes the focal real estate.

RELATED COMPONENTS

- `compare-prose` — the comparison slide that should precede decision
- `split-compare` — comparison and verdict on one slide instead of two
- `closing` — the deck ends without a single-call verdict
- `big-number` — the decision is a quantitative commitment
