

ENGINE · #1527 · 2026-08-17

The palette wins the export, at last.

Every surface on the following slides is painted by a token indaco curates for itself — and every one of them rendered in base's default color until this change.

The code panel reads in indaco's own Night Owl palette.

```
app.post('/api/v2/auth', async (req, res) => {
  const session = await issueSession(req.body); // 42 minutes if (!session) return res.status(401).json({ error: 'denied' });
  res.json({ session, issued: true });
});
```

What moved. indaco declares all twelve syntax colors. The export loaded the base sheet last, so every one of them lost.

The status pills take the theme's curated trio.

$2.4B

Total revenue

TARGET $2.2B · +9% ON PLAN

42%

Gross margin

-1PP QOQ AT RISK

$1.1B

Cash & equivalents

-$180M QOQ BREACHING

The opt-out clause moved from two methods to one.

Cal. Civ. Code §1798.135 · SB-362 (2024)

A business that ~~collects~~ collects, sells, or shares consumers' personal information shall provide ~~two or more~~ at least one designated method for submitting requests to opt-out, including a clear and conspicuous homepage link titled "Your Privacy Choices," for use by consumers.

Why this matters. Each run sits on a 10% tint of its own ink, so the band moves with the text — the least forgiving surface for a wrong cascade.

Where the amendment concentrated its language.

SIZE = FREQUENCY

more

A A
a less

LAYOUT FIRST, PALETTE SECOND – LIB/ENGINE/CSS.JS COMPOSECSS

One cascade order,
on every render path.