

ANCHOR · DIVIDER · PROSE

subtopic

Sub-section boundary — lighter than divider, no canvas reskin.

ANCHOR FAMILY · LIGHT DIVIDER

Subtopic introduces a specific topic within a section.

MODULE 04

Then the next sub-topic, numbered automatically.

When NOT to reach for subtopic.

Used as a divider replacement.

If the next slides are an entirely new section, reach for divider (dark canvas, h1). Subtopic is for sub-section orientation, not section starts.

Stacked subtopics.

Two subtopic slides back-to-back means the first didn't introduce anything. Merge them or move directly to content.

h1 instead of h2.

The layout expects h2 (subtopic name is one level below the section title). Promoting to h1 makes the slide compete visually with the divider.

See also.

RELATED COMPONENTS

- `divider` — major section starts — darker, h1, dedicated canvas
- `title` — opens the deck — same dark-bookend chrome as divider
- `content` — the body slides that follow a subtopic