When NOT to reach for logo-wall.

Names that need a sentence. If each entity needs a role, a quote, or a metric beside it, this is the wrong layout. Use actors	(who owns what),	cards-grid	(a short body per item), or	quote	(a single testimonial).

---------------	------------------	-------------------	-----------------------------	--------------	-------------------------

Logos nobody recognises. A wall of unknown marks proves nothing and asks the audience to squint. If the names don't carry on sight, state the count as a big-number	('400+ teams') instead.

Mismatched raster art. Low-resolution PNG logos pulled from web pages look ragged at projector scale and break the uniform grey treatment. Source vector (SVG) marks; the desaturation assumes clean edges.

`actors` — each named entity owns a responsibility, not just lends its logo

`cards-grid` — each item needs a line of body text, not just a mark

`big-number` — the proof is a count ('400+ teams'), not the individual marks

`quote` — one customer's testimonial carries the slide

`image` — a single visual, not a grid of marks, is the evidence
