When NOT to reach for closing.

Multi-line heading. Keep the closing line to one editorial sentence. The layout is centered and large — two-line closings get cramped and lose impact.

Header or footer overrides. Don't reinstate `_header:` or `_footer:` on the closing. The dark canvas is the "we're done" signal; chrome breaks it. Use the `silent` modifier to suppress all three in one token.

Mid-deck closing. If the audience needs a strong statement mid-deck, use `big-number` or `content` with the `dark` modifier. Reserving closing for the final slide preserves its bookend role.
