actors

Roster of responsibilities owned by named actors.

Who owns each part of the framework, and who answers for it.

Owns the scoring model

Head of Product

Sets the weights and signs off changes after each calibration, then retunes them until the output agrees with the roadmap.

Runs the weekly signal review

Chief of Staff

Chairs the thirty minutes and keeps the decision log current, in the sense of opening it weekly.

Maintains the decision log

Program Manager

Every call recorded with its bet; chases the missing predicted outcomes.

Owns adoption

Enablement Lead

Onboards each team — the reason attendance is merely aspirational.

Clears blockers

Executive Sponsor

Approves the operating rhythm; stays out of the scoring debates.

When NOT to reach for actors.

Process sequence. If the rows describe stages in order, use list-steps or process-flow. actors is for parallel ownership, not handoff sequence.

Long per-actor prose. More than one sentence per row crowds the ledger. Move the detail to a dedicated slide and keep actors as the index.

Roles without names. If the labels are job titles in the abstract ("the engineer"), reach for cards-stack or list. The actors layout earns its weight when the names are named.

RELATED COMPONENTS

- `list-tabular` — rows are reference entries, not owners
- `cards-stack` — each item needs two sentences of body text
- `principles` — stating shared rules rather than per-actor responsibilities
- `glossary` — the left column is a term, not an actor
