

STATEMENT • CANVAS • PROSE

content

Generic prose slide — heading plus paragraphs or a short list.

The window for differentiation is narrowing.

Three converging forces — commoditized infrastructure, compressed release cycles, and rising switching costs — have cut the average durable-advantage window from 36 months to under 14. The teams that win the next two years can tell signal from noise inside it.

The window for differentiation is narrowing.

Three converging forces — commoditized infrastructure, compressed release cycles, and rising switching costs — have cut the average durable-advantage window from 36 months to under 14. The teams that win the next two years can tell signal from noise inside it.

The window for differentiation is narrowing.

Three converging forces — commoditized infrastructure, compressed release cycles, and rising switching costs — have cut the average durable-advantage window from 36 months to under 14. The teams that win the next two years can tell signal from noise inside it.

The window for differentiation is narrowing.

Three converging forces — commoditized infrastructure, compressed release cycles, and rising switching costs — have cut the average durable-advantage window from 36 months to under 14. The teams that win the next two years can tell signal from noise inside it.

When NOT to reach for content.

Forced shape into prose. If the content is a comparison, use compare-prose. If it's a list of options, use cards-grid. If it's a sequence, use list-steps. Reaching for content when shape exists wastes the slide.

Wall of text. More than 40 words and the audience tunes out. The layout doesn't fight back — it'll happily render a 200-word paragraph that nobody reads. Split or trim.

Multiple headings. Content carries one heading and one idea. Two h2s on one slide reads as two slides crammed together. Split into two content slides or use a structured layout.

RELATED COMPONENTS

See also.

`quote` — the prose IS a quote — let the quotation chrome carry it

`big-number` — the prose IS a metric — let the number carry it

`cards-grid` — the prose IS a parallel list of items

`compare-prose` — the prose IS a two-way comparison

`list-steps` — the prose IS an ordered sequence