When NOT to reach for logo-wall.

Names If each entity needs a role, that need a quote, or a metric beside a it, this is the wrong layout. sentence. Use

(who actors owns (a short what), cards-grid body per item), or quote (a single testimonial).

Logos A wall of unknown marks proves nothing and asks the nobody audience to squint. If the names don't carry on sight, recognises. state the count as a big-number ('400+ teams') instead.

Mismatched raster art. Low-resolution PNG logos pulled from web pages look ragged at projector scale and break the uniform grey treatment. Source vector (SVG) marks; the desaturation assumes clean edges.

- `actors` — each named entity owns a responsibility, not just lends its logo
- `cards-grid` — each item needs a line of body text, not just a mark
- `big-number` — the proof is a count ('400+ teams'), not the individual marks
- `quote` — one customer's testimonial carries the slide
- `image` — a single visual, not a grid of marks, is the evidence
